THE VISIONARY

Lee Hartwell, Ph.D.

*President and Director
Fred Hutchinson Cancer Research Center
2001 Nobel Laureate*

Early in his career Dr. Hartwell's remarkable and visionary research was conducted on baker's yeast — a simple life form that was not previously known to be a good model for understanding the complexity of human cells. That research led to a landmark discovery that yielded practical implications for our understanding of human life and the eradication of cancer.

Today, Dr. Hartwell provides the same visionary leadership at the Hutchinson Center that led to his groundbreaking discovery. Dr. Hartwell's interests include the enormous potential of recent advances in genetics and biochemistry to benefit cancer patients. He believes that major improvements in quality of life and increased survival for cancer patients can be gained through advances in the prevention, detection and treatment of cancer.

Dr. Hartwell is the recipient of many national and international scientific awards, including the 2001 Nobel Prize in physiology or medicine. Other honors include the Albert Lasker Basic Medical Research Award, the Gairdner Foundation International Award and the Alfred P. Sloan Award in cancer research. He is also a member of the National Academy of Sciences.

“President’s Circle funding enables us to pursue real breakthroughs in scientific research. We then leverage that seed money to secure grants from the National Institutes of Health to get 10 to 100 times the amount it took to get that idea started.”

THE VISION

Harnessing the power of significant annual gifts

The President's Circle—a distinguished group of donors who share Dr. Hartwell's vision for the elimination of cancer and other life-threatening diseases. Circle members recognize the importance of providing significant annual flexible funding for the Hutchinson Center's research. Annual unrestricted gifts of $10,000 or more sustain programs vital to our mission: pilot-research projects, shared research facilities, patient-family support, faculty recruitment and training for the next generation of biomedical researchers.

REALIZING THE VISION

Directing flexible funds where they are needed most

With your support, the Center can fund new ideas and innovations in research as they emerge—accelerating our ability to prevent, detect and treat cancer. As a President's Circle member, you will gain awareness of cutting-edge research as well as experience the satisfaction of understanding the impact of your donation as reported by our president.

THE CELL CYCLE

*Dr. Hartwell's
2001 Nobel Prize-
winning discovery*

“My family has often been torn between supporting organizations that work to lessen suffering today and organizations that work to prevent suffering in the future. We support the Hutch every year because it does both exceptionally well.”

"While I could have gone anywhere in the country for my cancer treatment, my doctor recommended Fred Hutchinson Cancer Research Center. I would not be here if it weren't for the extraordinary care and treatment I received 11 years ago from the Center. Thanks to ongoing research, I'm alive today."
